Relli de vries

“Porifera” comprised of two interviews and a journalistic document: an interview with the architect John Palmesino /Territorial Agency about his project “Solid Sea”, which re-reads the space of the Mediterranean and an interview with the sponge researcher Dr. Sigal Shefer from Tel Aviv University. Its last part brings a journalistic testimony of a shocking story from 1984, which I have read in a local paper, about a refugee who was a stowaway on one of the ships of the Israeli shipping company ZIM, who was thrown overboard by the captain in the middle of the sea, and left for dead.
